Kroll Security Group (KSG) has been retained by the Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Chicago (JFMC) for a number of security design and engineering projects including most recently the new JFMC Headquarters project at 30 South Wells Street in downtown Chicago, Illinois.

This project included our full scope of services and provided design services for biometric access control, intrusion alarm, closed circuit television, automatic turnstile and portal systems and visitor management for the Headquarters facility.

KSG provided similar services for JFMC FacCorp at their 216 West Jackson, Operations Offices and The Joy Knapp School in Chicago, Illinois.

KSG also spearheaded the project team that allowed JFMC to integrate their biometric access control system into their Human Resources database management system to allow for automatic enrollment and termination of personnel access privileges at multiple sites.

Based on our previous work, KSG has been retained to complete a number of additional sites for JFMC including a multi-site project at seven Jewish academies, colleges and centers across the Chicago area.
